I have to say that the resolution you proposed is far from adequate. It seems you missed the Appeals Court finding. Microsoft is still doing harm to competitors and needs to be controlled. Please re-examine your proposed settlement. It is insufficient and we will all be back at this again if you don't lasso Microsoft while you have the court findings to back up a much stronger settlement. Every day, I find the Microsoft OS to be inadequate and yet only Linux at this time has any hope of competing with Microsoft. And that is because its free. Any bonafide competitor has no chance against a monopoly that keeps its monopoly by anti-competitve behavior. cheers
